We'll get it there

Who We Are

We are the delivery company for all. We strive on giving our customers the easiest experience for receiving or sending packages. They may be your packages, but they are our responsibility. If anything is broken, misplaced, or is delivered late without notice, your next shipment is free. We'll get it there.

Meet the President

“Our economy is rooted to local small businesses as well as our international affairs. Its time to meet the needs of all and get this world in sync. Its time to deliver.”

Naviport was created from an idea. That idea was to make deliveries easy, cheap, and reliable in order to keep the world in sync and in constant cooperation. Many companies rely on delivery systems to send and receive product, but if that product is damaged, late, or misplaced, that hurts their company, which hurts our economy and that's everyone's business. Starting off as a in-home delivery company from our president where he would deliver product to and from many small businesses around New England. Many of these deliveries included food to many restaurant owners, and he was able to save these companies a lot of time and money. President Smith gained many relations from his years as a small delivery business, until he was granted a loan from a retiring cafe owner. He took this loan, bought a few more delivery trucks, hired more drivers, and from there it took off.

Literally. In less than a year he hired a driver who also had a pilots license who owned a small cargo plane, and from there he was able to deliver nationwide. Now more than 50 years later Naviport is the easiest international and local shipping company with its own line of boats, trucks and planes. Its amazing what small business logistics can do for the economy.
